

Hogan Technology Invests into Customer Experience With Addition of New Client Service Specialist

Artist Brings Her Talents to Marketing and Client Services Department

EASTHAMPTON, MA — June 2021 — Hogan Technology, a leading managed technology services provider (MTSP) is excited to announce that they have hired Joelle Moran. Moran's role at Hogan Technology is Client Service Specialist, where she will be engaging with clients and working in the marketing department. Moran is also an artist, so she will undoubtedly find new ways to refine Hogan's aesthetic and strengthen the company brand. The team at Hogan is proud to welcome her aboard and is excited to benefit from her blend of marketing, communications and artistic skills to enhance the Hogan brand.

The leadership at Hogan Technology have always had a strong orientation towards delivering an exceptional customer experience and one of the ways they've achieved that so consistently over the years is by recruiting talented individuals. When we asked Sean Hogan, President of Hogan

Technology, about Moran, he said, "Joelle is a perfect fit for the culture and environment at Hogan. Joelle's background in client services makes her an ideal candidate for interacting with our clients and partners."

While Moran is eager to find new ways to delight customers with whatever technology they need, the management team is thrilled to have another team member on staff who possesses excellent communication skills and terrific personality, too. When Moran is not assisting clients at the office, she enjoys spending time in the great outdoors and is an avid nature lover.
